What is Camp $tart-Up®?
An Entrepreneurial Summer Business Program for Teen Women

Where/When Is It Held?
The Johnson School at Cornell University, July 3 - 10, 2004

How Can We Use Your Help?

Camper Recruitment
Please inform as many young women as possible about Camp $tart-Up.

Monetary Donation
If you don’t have the time to volunteer during the Camp, we would greatly appreciate any donations you could make!

Your donation subsidizes the cost of each camper and allows us to offer scholarships to allow more girls to participate.

Business Plan Coaches or Entrepreneur Panelists
Share your knowledge with young women interested in business and entrepreneurship.

You can donate half a day to serve either as a business plan Coach or a member of our Entrepreneurship panel.

Thank you in advance for your help in educating young women about business and entrepreneurship!

Camp $tart-Up is an interactive business and leadership experience for teen women ages 14-19. During the 8-day residential camp, girls work in teams to develop and present their own business plans. Classroom learning is balanced with field trips, interactive group activities, business simulation games, recreational activities, networking with successful business women, and fun!

Please see our Web site: www.johnson.cornell.edu/owmb/campstartup
To volunteer or to learn more, please e-mail us: campstartup@cornell.edu

Camp $tart-Up is a DollarDiva program licensed from Independent Means, Inc., the leading provider of education for girls’ financial independence.